ally speaks in favor of, or recommends any Medicine, through the influence of their name or pa- unless he knows of a sufficient amount of merit in the article to warrant him in so doing, and feels that he is doing a service to the public by calling attention to the benefits to be derived from its use. Hoofland's German Bitters is entirely vegetable, and is recommended by us in the hope that it may be the means of relieving much suffering, and be a blessing to the afflicted, and prove a valuable addition to the list of remedies already in use for the benefit of others.

C. M. Jackson, Esq.—Dear Sir: Having been requested by Hoofland's German Bitters, to make a statement in regard to the effect they have had upon my health, I would say that I was afflicted with Dyspepsia, Debility, and Nervousness, for more than two years, during which time I was under the care of several physicians, but received no benefit from their prescriptions. I was induced to try your Bitters, and before I had taken one bottle I found relief, and by the time I commenced taking the second bottle I felt like a new man. I have gained ten pounds, and I feel as well as I ever did in my life. I have no hesitation in recommending your Bitters to the afflicted, as I feel confident they will do all that is recommended. Yours, with respect, JOHN ROBERTS, Firm of Roberts & Agnew, Dealers in Boots and Shoes, No. 422 Market street, above Fourth, South side.

Philadelphia, August 25, 1862.

C. M. Jackson, Esq.—Dear Evans.—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. Their use is vouched for by numbers of my acquaintance, whose names are appended, and who have had all the circumstances of my case in full view for the last four years. A number of physicians and battery, and under the immediate care of Dr. B. Ayres, Practicing Physician and Surgeon of the Pennsylvania Hospital, for many arduous duties, I was stricken down with inflammation of the kidneys, and was confined in the hospital. This was followed by an attack of dysentery, which reduced me to a mere skeleton. I was discharged from the White House, and left the service of the steamer State of Maine, feeble and emaciated, with my health entirely shattered. Since that time I have been unable to perform any duties, and could not walk one square without resting. I was reduced to 90 pounds, and still retaining my flesh, for more than a month, or more, I was scarcely able to eat a mouthful of food. I did force a morsel down, it would distress me exceedingly, and I would throw it up again.

In short, I could not keep a glass of water on my stomach, and was confined to my bed for weeks together, under those circumstances I was induced by my friends, who had been using your Bitters, and receiving great benefit therefrom, to procure me from the druggist, which I accordingly did, and before I had taken one bottle I found relief, and by the time I had taken the second bottle I felt like a new man. I have gained ten pounds, and I feel as well as I ever did in my life. I have no hesitation in recommending your Bitters to the afflicted, as I feel confident they will do all that is recommended. Yours, with respect, JOHN ROBERTS, Firm of Roberts & Agnew, Dealers in Boots and Shoes, No. 422 Market street, above Fourth, South side.

With the stars of a Union unbroken as at first!
Arise and defend it! 'tis the sons of the brave
Whose blood bought the banner your rights must save.

SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 12, 1864.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN is published this morning. It contains the latest telegraphic news from the East and California in detail, a selection of the best articles published in the DAILY OREGONIAN, and the corrected Market Reports, and a Weekly Review of the same.

The WEEKLY OREGONIAN contains thirty-six columns of reading matter, being far greater than that published in any other journal in the State, and we aim to make it the most reliable newspaper, especially in regard to that which pertains to Oregon interests.

Single copies 12½ cents. $3 per annum mailed to any part of the United States.

The Men for the Times.

Upon the action of the Conventions which meet to-day throughout the State, will in a great measure depend the success and the honor of the Union cause in Oregon. If these are guided by high and loyal motives—if all schemes of mere personal and local interest are repudiated—a foundation will be laid for measures which must secure the hearty and zealous support of every true patriot. If, on the other hand, the devices of small politicians, the petty plans and combinations of adroit managers are allowed to succeed, disaffection will be invited and encouraged, and the noble objects which ought to inspire all political action, will be put in perilous jeopardy.

In times like these, faithful men who love their country ought to rise above all personal and partisan considerations, and to lay aside all schemes, save those by which the nation's liberties and life are sure to be immovably secured. For this result, we cannot be too anxious, nor can we be too careful in the selection of men who will be certain to work intelligently and sincerely for its accomplishment. The old questions, "is he honest?—is he faithful—is he capable?" have too often of late years, given place to those others, so utterly destructive of political integrity—"can we use him for our purposes?—can we, through him, beat another, whom we cannot use?" If so, he was the man, and by force of bargains, tricks and perhaps bribes, he was selected, not for the sake of serving the country, but to serve an irresponsible clique, and to defeat those who would not stoop to the low baseness which might win temporary success. The power and influence of a party, professing the best principles are thus prostituted to gain ignoble ends, and its strength is unjustly and wickedly weakened, by owning it responsible for the partisan acts of unprincipled managers. The Union party—and now ought to free itself entirely from all such control. It is based upon a high sense of political duty, and should boldly exercise the most invincible patriotism and the soundest judgment, for these are the sure foundations of its prosperity, and the unfailing security of the country against misrule, tyranny and treason. It wants men in its offices who are trusty and competent—in Congress, it needs statesmen who can justly appreciate and pass upon the great issues before the nation—not mousing politicians, whose chief business is the contrivance of plans to increase their influence—and in every position, it should place those who are guided solely by a sense of patriotic duty, and who will do their duty frankly, fearlessly and faithfully.

The people will expect that candidates, who, if elected, will prove to be such officers, will be put before them;—they ask only this, and if it is done, as from the tone of popular sentiment, we believe it is likely to be, they will cordially and warmly support them, and prove that the sustaining sympathy of Oregon is with the Government, in all its measures for putting down the rebellion and for making the United States, through all their wide domain, the home of freedom, and the peerless empire of enlightened humanity.

NEEDLESS ANXIETY.—"Rev. Dr. Hitchcock, (says the New York Evening Post, Jan 21st,) in a lecture on 'Duty and Destiny,' delivered in Brooklyn last evening, before the Long Island Historical Society, met the question of 'What shall be done with four millions of emancipated slaves?' by asking, 'What shall be done with all the red-whiskered men, all the black-whiskered, all the white-haired men?' This question, he added, was as sensible as the other, and both were the same kind of nonsense—which was nonsense. He conceived that there was no difficulty in answering either query, the freed blacks, like the free whites, would do honest work for honest pay. So that problem would solve itself."

The trouble that is borrowed about the future condition of the Negro race, when it is emancipated, is as thoroughly absurd as any notion which can be conceived. It is very much like the foolish fear that many quiet people felt twenty five or thirty years ago, when every ship from Europe brought crowds of emigrants to the Atlantic coast: such a foreign deluge was sure, it was said, to submerge the whole land and overwhelm the whole Yankee Nation! But the Irish and the Germans continued to come, and as they came all found something to do, and prospered. So it will always be. There is work enough to do on the Continent for everybody who has hands and sense, and no one need be disturbed, lest something will not be found for the negroes to do. There is work enough for all.

REBEL PROPOSITIONS.—It will be recollected that some months ago there was a rumor that the rebels wanted to compromise or treat for peace. The Copperheads made a great noise about the refusal of the Government to receive the Commissioners, contending that it was opposed to stopping the war short of the destruction of slavery. We doubted at the time that any sort of propositions were made, and that the whole was a trick of the enemy. But the following extract from the Tribune goes to show that there was some sort of propositions proposed by certain rebel officers. The Tribune says:

"The St. Louis Republican of the 12th inst. reports two propositions recently addressed by certain rebel officers to the Federal Government, one from the east, the other from the west side of the Mississippi. The former would seem to bear the shape of a purposed "dicker" with the Federal authorities, where by a large amount of cotton belonging to the rebel chiefs—or somehow impounded by them—is to be traded off for "greenbacks"—in other words, for the means of supporting existence. But the other, and far more important ("if true,") is in substance an offer by the rebel Generals and Colonels west of the Mississippi to clear out, vanish, camase, into or through Mexico, provided the Government will supply them with the means of so doing, by allowing them to ship and sell cotton from the Red River country, and thus raise the wind required to waft them to some peaceful shore—at least, a foreign one.

The Republican is not likely to have invented such a story, and we believe it is substantially true. We have long felt that this winter ought to witness the final and utter collapse of the rebellion west of the Mississippi, if not eastward as well. We know no reason why men enough should not be sent to Texas to overbear any possible resistance there, and so restore that State to the Union, without further bloodshed. All but remains of the rebellion in Louisiana, Arkansas, and the Indian country, would thereupon vanish like the dew, reducing the dominions of Mr. J. Davis within a very narrow compass. With the enlistments and re-enlistments now in vigorous progress, it will be a burning shame if our next 4th of July may not be celebrated by a reunited people, with no flag flying from the Susquehanna to the Rio Grande and Sacramento but that of the Union, no slave breathing its air, and no acre of its surface whereon the fundamental, vitalizing truth of the Declaration of Independence may not be proclaimed without fear and without reproach.

BROWNLOW'S REVENGE.—This day two years ago we were in jail in this city, crowded on all hands with about one hundred and fifty Union associates. The citizen scoundrels and shedevils of the secession "faith and order," were pointing the finger of scorn at us, walking by the jail and grinning like the imps of hell, articulating "he is just where he ought to be, for thrusting himself in the way of developing the resources of the South." Others wrote notes to the rebel scoundrels here in authority, to double the guard around the jail, to prevent our rescue by a Union mob. Two years have wrought something of a change. These infamous devils—these proscriptive partisans, and vile getters up of rebellion, can now walk these streets and grin at their own ruined private houses, their demolished fences; their squandered fortunes, and absconded negroes! They had better grin at the patches on their knees, and the seat of their pants! Their women can snigger over their old hoops as they mend them, and over their dilapidated bonnets, as they turn them inside out. Instead of grinning at us in jail, and turning up their noses at Union families when they meet them, as though they were approaching the rear of a garden-house, let their chaste, refined, and accomplished women offer up thanks to God that they are permitted to drink rebel coffee, made of rye, chestnuts and potatoes. Some of them are keeping boarding houses as a means of living, and feeding Yankee officers and soldiers, whose very presence was sickening, as they dared to walk the streets after they had taken Knoxville under General Burnside. Now, they are willing to live by the patronage of the Lincoln army. What a change! Aye, what a letting down of dignity. Nay, worse, many of them come up with false claims for losses and damages, and present witnesses to prove their loyalty to the Government of the United States.—Knoxville Whig, Jan. 9.

DEMOCRATIC PATRIOTISM.—We quote the following from the Metropolitan Record, to show the falsity of the charge that Democratic papers are always suppressed if they dare to denounce the Government, and also as a proof that Democracy when it speaks its real sentiments, justifies treason and hopes for the success of its schemes to overthrow the Republic. Every organ of the party would tell the same story but for the fear that such doses are too strong, and might so thoroughly disgust the people as to drive them in crowds away from the ranks:

"The Southern people (says the editor) are fighting in a just cause, as they are fighting against usurpation, and for freedom and State rights. They are fighting against a power that has trampled every principle of law and Constitutional liberty under foot. They are fighting for their homes and their dearest rights. They are fighting the battles of the Revolution over again. And so long as they are united and actuated by the spirit which they have thus far exhibited, they cannot be subjugated, and we trust they never will be. Whatever doubt might be entertained in regard to the justice of their cause, there can be none now."

PIONEER ELECTION OF 1864.—We rejoice that we are permitted this morning, to chronicle the first Union victory of the season. New Hampshire—as firm and solid in her loyal fidelity as her rocky mountains—has again repudiated with lofty and patriotic scorn, all sympathy with rebellion, and all compromise with treason.

The Granite State stands fast and forever by the Constitution and the Union, and will strive while liberty has a home on the Continent, for her supremacy and extension from ocean to ocean, and from Canada to Mexico. We hail her noble work as the pioneer in the glorious procession of Union victories, which is sure to be formed and proudly to pass in sight of the world between this time and next November.

ENOUGH TO MAKE A HORSE SWEAR.—The fruit packers at Portland, Oregon, show more ingenuity in mis-spelling the names of the different varieties of apples board for shipment to this port, than they do in packing the fruit, by at least 700 per cent. The following specimens were copied verbatim from some of the boxes in the Pacific Market: Newten pipping;" "shenating;" "Swarc."—S. F. Alta.

REBEL NEWS.

200,000 Men to be called out.

Great Riot in Raleigh, North Carolina.

BALTIMORE, March 8.—The Methodist Conference, in session here, adopted by a vote of 48 to 10 a report which declares "That we owe exclusive allegiance to the Government of the United States, in war in peace, and to the Constitutional Administration in every department, and exhort people who may have been tempted to sympathize with those who seek the overthrow of the Government, to consider loyalty to the Government as a matter of divine injunction; that we will not receive into Conference or elect to ministerial orders any man of known disloyalty; that we believe the time is not far distant when Baltimore Conference will no longer be embarrassed in maintaining the well known principles of the Methodist Church on the subject of slavery.

The Richmond Sentinel of the 5th March, urges the trial by military law of Dahlgren's captured men. It contains the following telegrams:

Meridian, March 4.—The work of repairing the railroads is progressing rapidly. Three miles of the track has been destroyed on the Southern road; 10 miles on the Selma road, and 35 miles of the Mobile and Ohio railroad. Sherman burned a great deal of property here and at Lockhart Station. All the public buildings and a number of private houses here were destroyed. The enemy pillaged every house, taking provisions from almost every family. Sherman laid waste the country through which the army passed while returning to Vicksburg.

Mason, Ga., March 2.—Sherman was at Canton, Feb. 28th, and our cavalry was harrassing him with decided effect. A private telegram from Gen. Forrest says: "My victory or the enemy is complete. Their loss in killed, wounded and captured is about 800; we lost two killed and 60 wounded. Yankees outnumbered us three to one. Col. Forrest is killed."

Charleston, March 4.—Within the last 24 hours 128 shells have been fired at the city. One woman severely injured is the only casualty from 1,200 shells fired during the last fortnight. The Monitors fired a few shots at Sumter to-day.

CINCINNATI, March 9.—A special from Columbus to the Gazette says Gen. Grant is on his way to the East. He expressed to a distinguished Ohio legislator his entire satisfaction with the situation of military affairs, and spoke in highest terms of praise of Sherman's expedition, which has given the rebellion the severest blow it has received since the fall of Vicksburg. Sherman destroyed forage and provisions enough to subsist the rebel army for six month. Over $2,000,000 worth of property was destroyed in one place, and an immense quantity of stores, thousands of bushels of corn, and large quantities of wheat in another; he brought in large droves of cattle, several thousand mules, 8,000 negroes and captured 400 prisoners, with trifling loss of men and material. By the destruction of very important railroad lines he has released McPherson's corps from guard duty along the Mississippi and restored it to our service.

A Chattanooga dispatch, dated March 4th, says: All quiet in front, except an occasional exchange of shots between advanced pickets to-day. A large force of cavalry appeared before Neckajack Gap and pressed upon our cavalry. A dispatch of the 7th states that the rebel cavalry have retired and our forces now hold Neckajack Gap, but it is not unlikely that the rebels may assume the offensive.

A collision occurred between two trains at Stephenson on the 5th, killing six and wounding several.

A large cavalry force attacked a detachment of the 3d Tennessee. Our loss was 32, killed, wounded and captured; rebel loss, 21 killed.

PORTLAND, March 8.—The Nova Scotia, from Liverpool Feb. 25th, has arrived.

Affairs in Schleswig remain unchanged.

Palmerston announced that orders had been sent to Cape Good Hope to release the Tuscarora, the law not justifying the detention.

NEW YORK, March 10.—One of the Supervisors of Brooklyn, just returned from Washington, was officially informed that a further call for 200,000 men would soon be made and enforced.

A Washington correspondent says: It is understood that Grant protests against all further attempts to penetrate the Confederacy until Richmond is taken, and disagrees with Halleck; he places the highest importance on the capture of the rebel capital. Another correspondent states that in view of the Richmond movement it is probable that Grant will command the main column.

NEW HAVEN, March 10.—A disastrous fire at Meriden, Conn., this morning, consumed two or three blocks of buildings, including the National Bank, West Meriden Bank and the Post Office. One person was killed and one wounded.

NEW YORK, March 9.—At the election held yesterday in New Hampshire, the total vote was 22,280 of which 1,640 were a majority in favor of an amendment to the Constitution allowing soldiers to vote.

CONCORD, N. H. March 10.—75 towns give Gilmore (Union) 4,500 majority for Governor being about 4,000 majority in all. Five Union Councilmen are elected, probably 12 Senators and a majority of Representatives. Union gains heavy in every town heard from.

CINCINNATI, March 8.—The Gazette to-day says Chase has accepted the action of Union members of the Ohio Legislature in recommending the re-election of Lincoln as decisive, and being desirous that the harmony of the Union organization shall not be disturbed, he expressed the wish that his name be considered withdrawn from the canvass.

FORTRESS MONROE, March 9.—The flag of truce steamer has arrived from City Point with 700 prisoners, exchanged for equal numbers of Confederates.

CHATTANOOGA, March 9.—The position of the rebel army is unchanged. Wheeler is near Dalton and it is probable that Johnson's army will soon be largely increased by recruits from Mississippi and Alabama.

The Tallahassee Floridian says that more than 1,000 Union soldiers have been buried on the battle field of Ocean Pond, and rebel dead numbers 165.

Later.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Blockade running steamer Don captured on the 4th by gunboat Pequot off Wilmington. Another was sunk off Cape Fear on the 6th. Painted side-wheel blockade runner went ashore 25 miles south of Beaufort. Our cruisers gone in search of another.

NASHVILLE, March 6.—The main purpose of Smith's expedition, which was 7,000 strong was to destroy railroad and army stores which was accomplished. It was not essential to join Sherman. The expedition was delayed ten days on account of freshets of the Mississippi. Forces under Gen. Johnson, 11,000 strong, began surrounding him in region traversed by vast swamps, when Smith determined to return. Heavy skirmishing which were complete victories. The rebels were completely routed, with loss variously estimated. Ours set down at 360. The damage done the enemy's railroads is irreparable.

CHICAGO, March 10.—Late arrivals confirm reports of the return of Sherman's expedition to Vicksburg. Cavalry penetrated 30 miles beyond Meridian. Five thousand negroes followed returning army. Considerable skirmishing was had, but not more than 1,000 rebels were seen in any one place.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Chase wrote a letter, which is published to-day, declining to become a candidate for President. Referring to a former letter he says: "I said should our friends in Ohio manifest a preference for another, I should accept the decision with really acquiescence due from one who has already been trusted beyond his merit and expectations! Recent action of the Union members of the Ohio Legislature indicating such preference, I ask that no further consideration be given my name."

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The Ratification treaty between the United States and Great Britain for final settlement, of the claims of Hudson bay and Puget sound agricultural Cos. has just been exchanged. All claims between the United States authorities on the one hand; and those of the companies on the other, with respect to possessory right, and claims of these companies and other British subjects in Oregon and Washington Territory, are to be settled by transferring these claims and rights to the Government of the United States for an adequate money consideration. Both Governments shall within twelve months after the exchange of ratification of the present treaty, appoint each commissioners for the purpose of examining and deciding all claims arising out of its provisions.

ALEXANDRIA, VA. March 10.—The following report of Committee on Emancipation, passed Constitutional Convention at noon to-day, with one dissenting voice:

Your committee on emancipation beg leave to report as part of the Constitution of Virginia, to be inserted under caption of slavery or freedom, as follows:

"First, Slavery or involuntary servitude is hereby abolished and prohibited forever.

"Second, Courts of competent jurisdiction may apprentice persons of African descent on time conditions as provided by law for apprenticeship of white children.

"Third, General Assembly shall make no law establishing slavery, or recognizing property in human beings."

A dispatch, dated Suffolk, Va., March 10th, says Our forces entered Suffolk this morning after a brief struggle. We now hold the place.

A Union soldier, recently escaped from Goldsboro, reports a great riot at Raleigh on the occasion of the hanging of native Union soldiers. Pickett's troops from Kingston, passed through Goldsboro to quell the outbreak in that city, where the stars and stripes were conspicuously displayed. The mob was not allowed to speak of this matter. It was reported that the rebels intend to hang the entire number of Union soldiers captured by them from Col. Foster's command, 51 in all, half of whom were never in the rebel service.

New Orleans advices of Feb. 18th state that military movements are still progressing for re-possession of the country beyond the Teche.

A special to the Tribune says: From returned Richmond prisoners we glean the following incidents connected with Kilpatrick's raid: When information reached Richmond that Kilpatrick had crossed the Rapidan, the most rigorous orders were issued concerning prisoners. When the fact that Kilpatrick was really approaching Richmond was established, the prison was charged with 200 kegs of powder, and every preparation made to blow them all into eternity. Ignorant that the prison was so arranged, a plan was formed to attempt to join our forces when they should enter the city. The guard was increased, with strict orders to shoot any one who approached the windows of stairway. Three officers and 130 men from Kilpatrick's command were confined in cells and fed on corn paste and water.

BROKE JAIL.—The Smythe who was recently "found" at Astoria, by J. S. Reynolds, is again "lost," this time from the Dalles Jail. In company with two other inmates of that inhospitable place, named Pobl and Hoyt, they concluded that they could not wait any longer, and suddenly took leave of their apartments on Wednesday night. The Sheriff offers a reward of $200 for Smythe and $100 each for the other fugitives.

Notice.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at the office of the undersigned until 12 o'clock M. on Monday, the 21st day of March, 1864, for the supply of ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY (150) HEAD OF BEEF CATTLE, as follows, viz:

SEVENTY FIVE (75) HEAD to be delivered to the Assistant Commissary of Subsistence at Fort Dalles, Oregon, between the 10th and 15th days of April, 1864.

SEVENTY-FIVE (75) HEAD to be delivered to the Assistant Commissary of Subsistence at Fort Walla Walla, W. T., on or before the 1st day of May, 1864.

Said Beef Cattle to be weighed on scales. From the live weight of a Steer his tare is ascertained, his net weight shall be determined by deducting fifty-five per cent. which leaves his gross weight at one thousand three hundred (1300) pounds, and fifty per cent. when less than that, and not under eight hundred (800) pounds.

Which it is impracticable to weigh on the scales, one or more average Steers will be selected, killed, and dressed in the usual manner, the average net weight of these (necks, shanks and kidney tallow excluded) will be reported as the net weight of the lot.

Bids must be accompanied with the names of two responsible sureties.

Bidders and their sureties will be required to take the oath of allegiance to the United States Government.

DISSOLUTION OF AN OLD FIRM.—An advertisement this morning announces that the long established and well known firm of LEONARD & GREEN is dissolved. Its members are among our most honorable and successful merchants; they were pioneers in the commercial business of the State, and by their enterprise have greatly contributed to the prosperity and growing wealth of our city. The gas which we burn, and the water which comes to our dwellings, daily remind us of their energy, even if their clerk also reminds us, once a month, that luxurious improvements are not gratuitous. We are sorry to lose the old name of our friends from our books, for they were among the earliest supporters of the OREGONIAN, having been subscribers and advertising patrons from the first—a period of nearly fourteen years. We sincerely hope that health and prosperity will attend the individuals as they have the partnership, and be sure that in this honest and hearty wish the whole community will join us.

A FIGHT.—As the Wilson G. Hunt neared the landing last evening a man from the dock attempted to pass on board, before the passengers had gone ashore. This proceeding being contrary to the rules and regulations of the company, the Mate very properly told him he must keep off; but the man persisted in his course, and following the matter from rough words, they finally hauled off in a determined fight, which lasted for about five minutes, the mate coming out ahead. This system of runners, and others, crowding the steamers before they are fairly landed, is a great annoyance, and the officers cannot do justice to themselves and passengers, until it is abated.

THE TELEGRAPH CELEBRATION FUND.—The committee of arrangements received as a contribution from the citizens, $225 for the purpose of the celebration, but as the expenses incurred amounted to only $175, the committee believing that such an appropriation of the money would be universally approved by the donors—have handed the unexpended balance, $50, to Mr. Holbrook, to be forwarded to the Military Commission.

DISSOLUTION OF AN OLD FIRM.—An advertisement this morning announces that the long established and well known firm of LEONARD & GUAY is dissolved. Its members are among our most honorable and successful merchants; they were pioneers in the commercial business of the State, and by their energies have greatly contributed to the prosperity and growing wealth of our city. The gas which we burn, and the water which runs to our dwellings, daily remind us of their energy, even if their clerk also reminds us, once a month, that luxurious improvements are not gratuitous. We are sorry to lose the old name of our friends from our books, for they were among the earliest supporters of the Oregonian, having been subscribers and advertising patrons from the first—a period of nearly fourteen years. We sincerely hope that health and prosperity will attend the individuals as they have the partnership, and we are sure that in this honest and hearty wish the whole community will join us.

A FROST.—As the Wilson G. Hunt neared the landing last evening a man from the dock attempted to pass on board before the passengers had gone ashore. This proceeding being contrary to the rules and regulations of the company, the Mate very properly told him he must keep off; but the man persisted in his attempt, and following the matter from rough words, they finally hauled off in a determined fight, which lasted for about five minutes, the Mate coming out ahead. This system of rowdyism, and others crowding the steamers before they are fairly landed, is a great annoyance, as the officers cannot do justice to themselves and passengers, until it is abated.

THE TURNVEREIN CELEBRATION FUND.—The committee of arrangements received as a contribution from the citizens, $225 for the purpose of the celebration, but as the expenses amounted to only $175, the committee thought that such an appropriation of the surplus would be universally approved by the donors. We handed the unexpended balance, to Mr. Holbrook, to be forwarded to the Sanitary Commission.

THE IDAHO GOLD AND SILVER MINING CO. A meeting of the subscribers to the capital stock of the "Multnomah Gold and Silver Mining Company," held yesterday at the rooms of R. G. Randall, Esq., S. G. Reed, H. D. Green, J. M. Strowbridge, E. G. Randall and W. A. Temple were elected Directors, and at a meeting of the Directors S. G. Reed was chosen President, E. G. Randall, Secretary, J. P. Strowbridge, Superintendent.

MUNICIPAL COURT.—The Recorder had the usual number of "drunk and disorderly" cases yesterday. Fred Hamilton and Willis Brown were sent up, the latter for ten days and the former for three, in default of payment of fines imposed upon them. James Carl, and Thomas Keaney, were fined $5 and costs, each, which was paid.

"ONWARD" FROM OREGON.—A correspondent of the S. F. Alta, writing from Portland under date of February 27th, says: "The Oregonian is now printed from a neat little power press, manufactured in Portland by Mr. Nation. Mr. Nation will undoubtedly be glad to learn that he is the manufacturer of a 'neat little power-press.'"

DEPARTURE OF THE PANAMA.—The steamer Panama left for San Francisco direct, last evening, at six o'clock. She carried about twenty passengers, and 2,100 bxs of fruit. Her freight was light, amounting to but 2,700, as follows: Wells, Fargo & Co., 2,000; Ladd & Tilton, 53,000; Elfelt, Wiel & Co., $2,700; A. Cahn & Co., $2,000.

THE SENATOR brought 20 passengers from Oregon City yesterday, and 61 tons of freight, part of which was flour from the Standard Mills, at Milwaukie, and which was transferred to the Hunt, for the upper Columbia.

TREASURE.—Mr. Holland, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Messenger from the Dalles, brought down 100 pounds of dust last evening—taken at $16 to the pound that is a very handsome chunk for one trip at this season of the year.

THE Wilson G. Hunt carried 313 passengers, 175 tons of freight, 24 animals and 4 wagons to the Cascades yesterday. We call that very good.

ACKERMAN'S SALE DAY.—A. B. Richardson will sell real estate, furniture, groceries and general merchandise, horses, etc., to-day at ten o'clock.

TIME.—The Hunt and Senator both arrived in time yesterday, to allow their passengers for California to transfer themselves and baggage to the Panama.

THE bark Amatia cleared for Portland on the 5th, from San Francisco.

ONE by one improvements are made, that add to the wealth and progress of Portland, it has been demonstrated by experiment, that oil can be manufactured in this city, of a quality equal to the best boiled oil imported, for use in painting, etc., at one half the customary expense. The matter was submitted to our inspection yesterday, at the turpentine works, and we recommend the subject to the attention of Painters, and others interested.

THE LECTURE of Judge Shattuck, last evening, before the Washingtonian Society, was listened to with a great deal of interest, by a fair audience. At the close of the lecture a vote of thanks was tendered to the gentleman by the Society.

THE GAS company connected their main with the lamp post at the corner of Second and Jefferson streets, yesterday, in compliance with the petition of citizens made to and granted by the Common Council, some three months ago.

ROGER B. TANEY ON SLAVERY, FORTY YEARS AGO.—In 1819, one Jacob Gruber, a Methodist preacher, delivered a violent anti-slavery sermon at a camp meeting in Maryland, and was arrested and committed by the grand-jury for inciting the negroes to insurrection. Gruber employed Roger B. Taney to defend him, and in his opening speech, Mr. Taney said:

"There is no law that forbids us to speak of slavery as we think of it. Any man has a right to publish his opinions on that subject whenever he pleases. It is a subject of national concern, and may at all times be freely discussed. Mr. Gruber did quote the language of our great Act of National Independence, and insisted on the principles contained in that concrated instrument. He did rebuke those masters, who, in the exercise of power, are deaf to the calls of humanity, and he warned them of the evils they may bring upon themselves. He did speak with abhorance of those reptiles who live by trading in human flesh, and enrich themselves by tearing the husband from the wife, the infant from the bosom of its mother; and this I am instructed is the head and front of his offending. Shall I content myself with saying he had a right to say this? that there is no law to punish him? So far is he from being the object of punishment in any form of proceedings, that we are prepared to maintain the same principles, and to use, if necessary, the same language here in the temple of justice, and in the presence of those who are the ministers of the law.

A hard necessity, indeed, compels us to endure the evil of slavery for a time. It was imposed upon us by another nation, while we were in a state of colonial vassalage. It cannot be easily or suddenly removed. Yet while it continues it is a blot upon our National character, and every real lover of freedom confidently hopes it will be effectually, though it must be gradually wiped away, and earnestly looks for the means by which the necessary object may be best attained. And until it shall be accomplished, until the time shall come when we can point without a blush to the language held in the Declaration of Independence, every friend of humanity will seek to lighten the galling chain of slavery, and better, to the utmost of his power, the wretched condition of the slave."

FROM IDAHO.—By Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express we are in receipt of the Lewiston Age of March 5th, and the Boise News of the 27th of February. From them we learn that Bannock City, or "West Bannock" as it has been designated, has been changed to Idaho City, by Act of the Territorial legislature. The News says there are four men confined in jail in Idaho City, for murders in Boise county, one for an attempt to commit murder, three for grand larceny, and probably twice as many at large on bail, waiting the action of Court. The Grand Jury was in session. Flour was selling at $33 per cwt.; bacon 60@70 cts. per lb.; sugar 60@70 cts.; tea $1 50@$2; coffee 70@75 cts. The weather is reported too pleasant to suit the general desire of the people for water. Alonzo Leland put in a salutation in the Age, as Editor of that paper. A new county has been created in the South Boise district, to be called Altamas. The first election under the charter of Idaho City, for Mayor, Common Coubcil, Marshal, etc., will take place in April.

WHO KNOWS BEST?—It is false that slavery caused the war or is hostile to the Union.—Marysville Express.

Had there been no negro slavery there would have been no war. [Applause.] I say so, because I never saw any bitter contest in the country that negro slavery was not the foundation to. What was it we attempted to compromise year by year? Was it horses, or cats, or dogs, or women or men? Why no, it was the question of negro slavery. What called the nation in solemn council in 1850, when Clay and those other great statesmen walked on the verge of the grave almost to draw compromise from the Government? What was the issue in Fremont's canvass? Negro slavery! And in 1860? Negro slavery. We attempted diplomacy and statesmanship to settle this question of negro slavery. We could not do it.—Gen. Gantt.

We leave the public to determine whether the Express or Gen. Gantt is correct. The latter being one of the participants in the rebellion—having "gone through"—ought to be the best authority in this dispute.—Appeal.

A HIT.—Tuesday evening that Ridgely Greathouse, the discharged pirate, was in town, on his way to Yreka, there happened to be a bright fire on a hill side not far from town, observing which Greathouse inquired of a bystander what was burning. The reply was: "Don't know, unless it's a ship on fire!"—Shasta Courier.

DIED:

At Forest Grove, Feb. 18th, Cynthia Jane, daughter of R. C. and M. C. Combs, aged 5 years and 8 months.

She was a lovely child, greatly endeared to her parents, brothers and sister, her teachers and schoolmates, by her affectionate disposition and bright intelligence. She has gone, we believe, where sin cannot blight nor sorrow fade.

"Time must have changed that lofty young brow,
Time might have stirred that spotless heart;
Years might have brought deceit—but now
In love's unfolding flower we part.
Ere pain and grief had sown decay,
The child has nestled in the tomb,—
Like some fair blossom torn away
In all its bright bud bloom."

MARKET REPORT AND REVIEW.

FRIDAY, March 11th—12 M.

The business of the week just drawing to a close has been spirited, throughout all the various channels, beginning lively with the merchants, who have been long an usually large trade, for the season, chiefly for the mining regions and for the interior of the State.

During the period under review over 700 tons of produce have arrived on the boats on the Willamette, besides large quantities from the direction of the Cowlitz river, which has consisted principally of hay and grains, butter, eggs, etc.

The receipts of Apples are beginning to fall off materially and the season may be considered practically closed. A few hundred bxs of the best quality, will be taken to San Francisco on the Panama, which sails at 5 o'clock p. m. to-day, and that will most likely close important transactions for the season, in apples.

The Oregon City boat brought 4 tons of eggs yesterday, for shipment to California. They are quoted at 15 cents to-day, in our Wholesale Prices Current. At retail they are selling at 20 cents.

Alarming reports continue to reach us of the drouth in California, and there is evidently no speculative motive to instigate them. Everything is drying up there, and Oregon must be depended upon to furnish California with great portion of her breadstuffs, the coming year. We see large profits to result from Oregon farmers putting in good crops, and we hope they will see the importance of doing so, before it is too late.

Late reports from California have sprung the price of flour considerably, and a pretty brisk speculation in the article has grown out of it. We look for prices to further advance, and holders to be firm.

Our telegraphic dispatches this morning report Flour in San Francisco yesterday at $8; Barley 2¾@3 cts. There is also a speculative movement in beans and potatoes, the latter was firm at 1 cent; while the former was firm at 2¾@3¼. Wheat was in demand at $2 30@$2 35. Corn meal 3¼@3¾ c. ₩ lb.

Wheat is quoted in our market to-day at 80 cents.

Feed Grains and Hay remain unchanged.

Wood is retailed at $4 to $5 50, dry, according to quality. Considerable has arrived during the week.

Our Flag.

That dear old flag—the Stars and Stripes—
Our father's early pride,
Columbia's glorious veil save from harm,
Their glory and our guide.
And may the stars in numbers grow,
The stripes be given to our foe:
Then rally round the banner, boys,
To it we'll ne'er prove true;
For none dare trample to the dust
Our own Red, White and Blue.

Where'er it floats, the world's oppressed
Shall gather proud and free;
And find protection 'neath our flag—
The flag of Liberty.
For tyrants trembled through the world,
When 'broad to our dear flag unfurled.
Then rally round the banner, boys,
To it we'll ne'er prove true;
For none dare trample in the dust
Our own Red, White and Blue.

O God of right, with victory crown
Our arms brave and bold;
And long the Stars and Stripes wave o'er
Our Union of old.
Let North and South and East and West
With peace and plenty ope be blest.
Then rally round the banner, boys,
To it we'll ne'er prove true,
For spite but traitors dare insult
Our own Red, White and Blue.

God bless that good old flag we love,
Our country and her laws;
God bless the men who faithful prove
To Freedom's holy cause!
And may our Union ever be
As lasting as our liberty!
Then rally round the banner, boys,
To it we'll ne'er prove true,
And freemen every where shall love
Our own Red, White and Blue.

Army Legerdemain, or Tricks of the Soldiery.

[Correspondence of the N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, December 31st.—A voluminous book might be written on army legerdemain and jugglery. One of the first things a soldier learns to do is to avoid duty. He tires of the daily drill, picket labor, etc., and seeks through plea of sickness to escape them. It would puzzle Dr. Lieber himself to make out some of the complaints which are "put in" at the morning call of the regimental surgeon, by the soldiers; knowing that the doctor relies mainly for his judgement of the case upon the condition of the pulse, they not unfrequently render it unsteady and violent by rapping the elbow severely just before entering his tent. The appearance of the tongue is also a criterion of condition. A surgeon of a New York regiment in General Davidson's brigade was much puzzled during the winter of 1861 to account for so many of the men having coated tongues. It was almost a distemper in the regiment. After much diligent inquiry he discovered that among the privates was a druggist who furnished for a trifle his comrades with a white mixture, which they applied to their tongues whenever desirous of getting off from duty. The discovery was not made, however, until after nearly the whole regiment had deceived him at one time and another.

The stringent regulations against the use of ardent spirits leads to many ruses for obtaining it. When the troops were encamped near Washington at the commencement of the war, they were found to have liquor constantly, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts made to keep it from them. After several weeks they were detected smuggling it into camp in their gun barrels. An amusing incident transpired last winter at Falmouth. Gen. Burnside ordered several hundred barrels of commissary whisky to be sent down from Washington to Aquia Creek, before his move in the mud. Lieutenant Eighty-ninth New York, acting Brigade Commissary in Getty's division, sent repeatedly to the creek for a supply, but every barrel that was furnished him would disappear from the cars before reaching Falmouth—rumor having it that the roguish Hawkins' Zouaves "gobbled" them. At length, despairing of obtaining any of the stuff by order, he proceeded personally to Acquia Creek for a supply. He obtained one barrel, and, standing it up in the car, seated himself upon the top, confident that no one could get that away from him. What was his dismay, on springing down to the platform at Falmouth, to find the barrel coming with him, empty. Some ingenious soldiers had bored a hole up through the bottom of the car while the train halted at Potomac Creek or Burke Station, tapped his barrel, and drained it to the dregs.

Believing that rebels have no rights which a soldier is bound to respect, they practice all sorts of tricks upon the Virginians. When the army marched through the State from Pleasant Valley in November, 1862, many of the troops "confiscated" the hogs, sheep and poultry on the route, declaring to the rebel owners that they were the identical animals which Stuart had taken from their "relatives" in Maryland, during his great raid a few weeks before. When we arrived in the vicinity of Warrenton, Charley, belonging to a New York regiment, who took care of our horses, started out for the purpose, he said, of bringing back some Thanksgiving turkeys. After riding about a mile, he reined up at a pleasant looking farm house on the Gainesville turnpike, and inquired for the owner. A surly looking rebel appeared, and on being asked if he would sell some of his poultry, replied gruffly that the "Yank" could buy nothing from him. "But," said Charley, "if you do not sell your chickens and turkeys, my boys will surely steal them after dark." This reasoning had the desired effect, and the farmer consented to dispose of a part of his poultry. After Charley had loaded down two or three hostlers who accompanied him with fowls, he drew forth a huge roll of counterfeit Confederate bills to pay for them. But the owner objected to taking this on the plea that Confederate currency would not circulate now that we were in possession of the country. "Very well," replied Charley, who was never at a loss for a reply, "I have no greenbacks with me now, but here is an order on my Quartermaster. Go and present it to him at the regiment"—pointing to the camp of the One Hundred and Nineteenth Pennsylvania—"and he will cash it for you at once." This was satisfactory to the owner, and Charley returned to the regiment with enough poultry to last us a week. We never could learn that the Quartermaster of the Pennsylvania cashed the draft. The reader may question such "a mode of procedure," but after making forced marches for a week on hard tack, soldiers cannot be expected to follow the "due course of law," in obtaining delicacies from the enemy. It is astonishing the amount of counterfeit Confederate money circulating in our armies. There is a regular traffic in it, vendors selling the bills at the rate of five dollars per hundred. The troops consider it perfectly lawful to dispose of all the stuff they can, believing with a manufacturer of it not long since arrested in Chicago, that they are using a legitimate means for breaking down the rebellion, by distributing all they can of this bogus currency within the rebel lines. That it has had considerable to do with the depreciation of Confederate paper no one can doubt. Perhaps if one regiment enjoys more reputation than another for this mode of "fighting the rebels, it is the Fourteenth Brooklyn. A recent writer, speaking of their first appearance on the Rappahannock, says:

"They brought with them some bundles of counterfeit Confederate notes, and soon became excellent customers at the Fredericksburg shops. On entering, they usually accosted the proprietor as follows:

"'Do you take this Confederate stuff here? We don't think it good for anything, but if you choose to receive it, we will make some purchases.'

"Shopkeeper (indignantly)—'Those notes will buy anything in the store, sir.' And so more than three thousand dollars change hands.'

During General Hooker's series of battles, a squad of soldiers discovered a safe beneath the ruins of the Bernard Mansion, below Fredericksburg, containing an immense amount of the genuine rebel currency. It was freely divided among the other members of their regiment, and they now have a sufficient number of "greybacks" to last them during the remaining term of their enlistment.

A common ruse practised for obtaining food is for a soldier to enter a house, and, pulling out a greenback, request some biscuit or other article of food. After the woman has baked them and stowed them away in his haversack, the purchaser is, much to his surprise, unable to find his money, and so you go away without paying. Very often a sutler becomes exorbitant in his prices, and the men decide to "go through his establishment," as it is called. While two or three of the number attract his attention in front, the remainder "move on" to the rear of his tent, and "clean him out." When tobacco becomes very high and scarce, various expedients are resorted to for obtaining it from the rebels, who always have a plentiful supply. Notwithstanding the stringent orders against holding intercourse with the enemy, the soldiers last Fall used to escape from the eye of their officers, and, going down to the Rappahannock, would wade in and exchange sugar for tobacco, half-way across. They likewise frequently floated their staple back and forth on logs or chips of wood. In the same manner newspapers were exchanged unknown to their officers.

It is astonishing, the craving which soldiers have for tobacco. I have seen them, regardless of the taunts of an officer, leave the line of battle to run back a tobacco house and return to their places loaded down with the weed. The sight of a tobacco warehouse will stampede a regiment of men when a furious charge by the enemy has no effect upon them.

When orders are received for an advance, then it is that the weak kneed, those liable to the "Jonnon-fever," "dead beats," as they are called, set their wits most actively to work to avoid the impending conflict. Numbers are suddenly taken sick before leaving camp, and others fall out by the way and straggle in the fields or forests. Unless the surgeons are unusually shrewd and stern, they are extensively imposed upon by new troops in this manner. I recall one instance of this kind, which army doctors would do well to treasure up. When orders were received from Gen. Hooker to move, last April, a large, stalwart fellow, belonging to the Thirty-third New York, was suddenly troubled with lameness in one of his limbs. Indeed, he was so "rheumatized" that he could with difficulty respond to the surgeon's call on the morning prior to the advance. But Dr. Curran had marked the fellow before, and knew he was playing off. As he approached his tent he cried out to him, "Straighten up, there, old fellow; you must walk lamer than that if you expect to get off." The entreaties of the soldier to be sent to the hospital were of no avail, and he was ordered to "fall into line."

After hobbling along for about half a mile, he rolled over on his back declaring he could not walk another step to save his life. His comrades laughed heartily at him, and moved on. I turned back with the doctor and endeavored to straighten the fellow up, but as often as we stood him on his feet he would come down and stretch out like one in the agonies of death. Finally the doctor remarked that he guessed he could bring him to, and proceeded to draw from his saddle-bags a bottle of sweet oil. The sight of this nauseous liquid had a most exhilirating effect on the patient, and springing to his feet, he walked off with alacrity. But we had not gone more than a mile before down came the lame man again. But a sight of the sweet-oil bottle again restored him, and we finally got him to the river bank. At length despairing of success in his deception, he took his place in the ranks, gallantly stormed the Fredericksburg bights with his comrades, won a distinguished part in the terrible battles of the day succeeding, and escaped unharmed.

Labish Precinct, Marion County, Union Meeting.

Met March 5th, 1864, at Waconda. Samuel Welch was elected Chairman, and L. H. Poundle Secretary.

A committee of five were elected on resolutions, who reported the following, which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, There is at this time an enormous rebellion raging in the United States that threatens the very life of the Government, and whereas, we believe that the war is prosecuted on the part of the rebels for the purpose of subverting our liberty and freedom, distroying our Republican form of Government and building on its ruins, a despotism the corner stone of which shall be perpetual, hereditary slavery. In view of the above, we believe that every loyal citizen should express his sentiments in unmistakable acts therefore, be it

Resolved, That we fully endorse the measures of the National Administration to suppress the existing slave holders' rebellion, including especially the Emancipation Proclamation and the late recent Amnesty Proclamation.

Resolved, That we are in favor of employing no more officers or soldiers in Oregon, and elsewhere, who can give unqualified support to the measures of the Administration to suppress armed treason and preserve the country and Government from dismemberment and anarchy.

Resolved, That in the event that Congress shall submit amendments to the Constitution of the United States forever abolishing slavery in all portions of the Union, to the several States legislatures, that we are in favor of the Legislature of Oregon supporting such proposed amendments.

Resolved, That the memory of our fathers, our national honor and glory, our hope for the future, our fidelity to liberty, all forbid any compromise or leniency of purpose until the rebellion is crushed, and the Star Spangled Banner floats over every acre of the Republic.

Resolved, That no sacrifice is too valuable in order to secure to us and our children, in the future as in the past, the priceless heritage of civil and religious liberty.

Resolved, That the delegates elected from this precinct to the County Convention be instructed to request the adoption of the foregoing or similar resolutions by the Union County Convention, before any election shall of delegates to the State Convention, and that the delegates to the State Convention from this county be instructed to procure, if possible, the adoption of the same before any nominations for the various State offices are made.

J. H. Feaster offered the following, which were also unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That all organizations whatever, which tends to divide the Union party should not be tolerated by good Union loving men.

Resolved, That it is the duty of all Union men to do everything honorable to oppose all political cliques that will aid treason and rebellion.

On motion, the Secretary was instructed to forward a copy to some loyal paper with a request to publish, and that other loyal papers be requested to copy.

T. B. Allen, Joseph Engle, H. P. Jackson, S. W. Jones and E. P. Henderson were elected delegates to the County Convention.

S. WELSH, Chairman.

L. H. POUNDE, Sec'y.

JEFF. DAVIS' SON IN THE FEDERAL SERVICE.—A letter from a gentleman occupying a high position in the United States contains the following curious story: "This reminds me," says the writer, "that Jeff. Davis' son, by his slave girl Cuttarine, was in the Federal service on board one of the gunboats in the Mississippi for several months—likely mulatto. Among the letters of Jeff., taken at his house by our Illinois troops, there was a batch of quarrelsome epistles between Jeff. and Mrs. Davis, touching the old flame Catherine. Mrs. Davis upbraided her husband bitterly. I have this story from one of the highest officers in the squadron, and who himself read the letters and suppressed them.—London Star, Jan. 15.
